DISASTROUS FOR BACKERS.

FIRST CHOICES AT AQUEDUCT FAIL
ALL ALONG THE LINE.

Purslane First in the Roslyn Handicap in a
Close Finish—Hessian Wins Again—
Oraculum a Surprise.

New York, November 12.—Favorite backers are having a tough row to hoe in the closing days of the season about New York. There was not one of the choices first home at Aqueduct this afternoon and some of the winners came as a decided surprise. The notable surprises were when Oraculum won the first, Whidden the third, Purslane the Roslyn Handicap and Quinn Brady the mile and a sixteenth race, which was fifth. Altogether it was a very disastrous day for the backers of first choices.

After the withdrawal of Baby Wolf and McCarter in the Roslyn Handicap it was considered a very open affair and at post time Tilting and Lad of Langden were about equal choices. As a matter of fact, it was Tilting that was carrying the bulk of the money. He was an added starter and was backed from 12 down to his closing price of 4 to 1. Don Enrique was another that was added and he attracted some following at 8 to 1 and later at 7 to 1. Kentucky Beau, in his usual fashion, went to the front at the rise of the barrier and attempted to make a runaway race of the stake. He cut out the pace until the stretch was reached, where he faltered badly and Don Enrique and Purslane drew away from him. In a rattling finish all through the final sixteenth Purslane came home winner by a scant half length, while Don Enrique easily beat Killaloe for second place. Tilting was at no time a contender and was beaten off.

The condensed history of the Roslyn Handicap is as follows:

Year.	Winner.	Wt.	Jockey.	Val.	Time.
1902	Rossignol	103	J. Martin	$1,010	1:27 3/4
1903	Wild Thyme	108	Redfern	995	1:48 3/4
1904	Orthodox	115	J. Martin	1,165	1:40 3/4
1905	Santa Catalina	116	W. Miller	1,550	1:47 3/4
1906	Athlete	95	McDaniel	1,475	1:42 3/4
1907	Purslane	93	G. Swain	1,500	1:39 3/4

Run at 7-8 mile in 1902 and 1 1-16 miles in 1903 and 1905.

One of the real good things of the day came out of the steeplechase, when Alamansor, after having been backed, won in a drive from Kara, the 6 to 5 favorite. In this race Bannell and Dulcian fell and Agio, the only other starter, was a distant third.

Oraculum, which has been consistently disappointing in all of his recent races, was a good horse today and, setting the pace all the way, won from the selling plater sprinters in the first race. He was held at 10 to 1 in the betting and in view of what he had been showing, it did not seem an extravagant price about his chances. Robin Hood and Quadrille, the betting choices, finished head and head with him.

Whidden, with Miller up, was neglected in the six and a half furlongs race for selling plater maiden two-year-olds. Alex Grant, Trash, Duke of Bridgewater and Orfano were the ones most fancied. Duke of Bridgewater appeared the winner when a furlong from the finish, but near the end Whidden closed up with a rush on the inside and won going away many lengths before the Aste hope, Duke of Bridgewater. Orfano raced third, while fifth was the best Alex Grant could do.

Quinn Brady had to be hard driven all the way through the stretch to win the fifth race by a short margin from St. Valentine and Kilter, while Adoration, the favorite, after racing last to the stretch, made up some ground, but only reached sixth place. At the end of the program Hessian, which has come to be a very smart colt, won going away by a length from Dorante, with Carrollton, the pace-maker, third.

Jockey Knapp left for San Francisco last Saturday and probably it is just as well for him that he left when he did.

George Boles was not at the track this afternoon, and while there was no official announcement, there was a well defined rumor that he has been ordered away. This ruling, it is said, will apply to all the tracks east and west.

PROVIDING RICHLY FOR OWNERS.

New York, November 12.—Besides raising the Suburban to $25,000 the Coney Island Jockey Club has decided on liberal increases to its minor stakes. The Coney Island Handicap next year will be raised from $2,000 to $3,000 in advance money; the Sheephead Bay, from $2,500 to $3,500; the Long Island, from $3,000 to $4,000; the Thistle, from $2,000 to $3,000; the Grass Selling, from $1,500 to $2,000; the Bay Ridge, from $2,500 to $3,000; the Daisy, from $1,500 to $2,000; the Pansy, from $1,500 to $2,000; the Rosebuds, from $1,500 to $2,000; the Fall Handicap, from $2,000 to $3,000; the Ocean, from $2,500 to $3,500; the Omnium, from $3,000 to $4,000; the Flying, from $2,000 to $3,000; the Independence Steeplechase, from $2,500 to $3,000; the Introductory Steeplechase, from $1,500 to $2,500, and the Flatbush Stakes, from $10,000 guaranteed to $10,000 added.

LAKELAND SENDS YEARLINGS EAST.

Lexington, Ky., November 12.—William Lakeland shipped east tonight a yearling bay filly, sister to the Futurity winner, Electioneer, by Voter—Quesal, and a yearling bay colt by Ben Brush. They will race in his colors the coming season.

IS NOW PRACTICALLY A NEW TRACK.

New Orleans Fair Grounds Course Modernized in All Features.

New Orleans, November 11.—When middle west and eastern horsemen arrive at New Orleans they will not recognize the old Fair Grounds, the scene of many brilliantly contested races of the days gone by. The track itself has been entirely rebuilt. It has been moved over six feet from its former limits on the grandstand side. It has been widened throughout, so that its mean width at any point is seventy feet, while in the main stretch its width is seventy-three feet. Billy Myer has had charge of the track construction. In the remodeling the old gumbo clay was dug out. The foundation was made with a layer of cinders. On top of that was placed four-inch cross draining tiles six feet apart. On top of this another dressing of cinders was laid and then a top dressing of eighteen inches of light sandy loam.

The ditches on either side of the track have been lowered and, instead of the water being carried off through open canals as formerly, it will be disposed of through sixteen-inch tile drainage pipes. The practical completion of the new city sewage system has enabled the Fair Grounds to simplify this feature greatly. The canal, which in former days cut across the infield, has been widened and sunk five feet below its original level. This means that in any sort of rainfall, the water will be carried off rapidly to the pumping stations, so that there will be no chance whatever for a flooding of the track such as occurred several years ago when the candidates for the Derby lined up at the post in water deep enough to swim in.

The track has been graded up beyond its former level to the extent of five feet on the turns. It drains to the inside. Besides the cross tile draining, sluice boxes are placed on the inside rail every thirty feet. A chute has been built for six furlongs starts, so that all races at this distance will have a clear run of a quarter of a mile before the upper turn is reached. An experienced turfman said of the track: "Well, they are doing things here, and a selling plater that cannot run a mile in 1:40, had better stay away." In the writer's opinion, the new Fair Grounds will be the best equipped mile race track in America, notwithstanding the fact that some mistakes have been made.

The brick barn and buildings above it have been torn down so that now there is nothing but open space between the upper end of the grandstand and Bud Renaud's Bungalow barn at the Gentilly street entrance at the head of the stretch.

In order to secure a long run in, the new stand has been placed some 300 feet lower down than the old one, so that the inclosed paddock which abuts it, is about level with the first turn. This arrangement will give a long stretch run of pretty nearly five-sixteenths of a mile, but on account of the lay of the grounds, it compresses the paddock. This has movable doors and windows so that it can be either opened or closed. There are twenty stalls on one side arranged similar to the Latonia paddock. But there is no available space outside. The grounds come to a point on the turn and the space between the paddock and the track could be designated as forty feet at its widest and ten feet at its narrowest dimension.

Another feature that would impress an outsider is this: At City Park the grandstand was located so as to get the afternoon sun. There was no need that any part of the grandstand should be inclosed in glass as was done at the old Fair Grounds stand. At the latter course the stand is placed directly opposite. It gets the sun only in the early morning hours. It is likely that some changes will be made in the construction plans and that the promenade will be inclosed in glass, as it certainly ought to be if the management has due consideration for the welfare of racing patrons.

But, criticize as you will, when you come to consider the plant generally, there is only one thing to do. You have to take off your hat. The steel framework of the old Union Park stand in St. Louis was used in the construction, but comparison would be out of the question, because plans have been changed and only first-class material has been used here. A Chicago man, D. H. Long, has had charge of the construction, and he states that all summer long he has met with all sorts of obstacles in the way of getting material here. It is to his credit that he could have the grounds ready for racing in a matter of three or four days if occasion required it.

The stand proper is 360 feet by 120. It is raised about eighteen feet above the level of the track and, besides the main entrance, it has nine stairways. I should judge that it would accommodate 10,000 people without over-crowding. The inclosed betting ring, with movable doors and windows, so that the track management can discount the weather man, can accommodate any even hundred gentlemen who think they know more than the public does, and then there will be plenty of room to get around. Upstairs a wide, railed-in gallery runs entirely around the speculative inclosure, so that visitors can observe all angles of the sport just as they might do if they had an invitation to the wheat pit in Chicago or the stock exchange in New York.

Horsemen, who have been here before, will find only one landmark remaining. That is eighteen—and the number is stated advisedly—live oak trees in the infield. Maybe the vandals would have cut out the live oaks, but the old Napoleonic code, which is still in force here, says no.

People down here love racing and are interested in it. Of course, the politicians may try to make some sort of an issue of turf sports, but, if they do, in the writer's opinion, the politicians will lose. The people down this way are liberal minded and they want recreation. Any anti-racing platform would not appeal to them.

RHODORA CONFUSES THE CRITICS.

Her Victory in the Dewhurst Plate Totally Unlooked for by All.

Latest London newspapers show that Rhodora's brilliant triumph in the Dewhurst Plate was a stunning surprise to the leading turf critics, not one of which mentioned her as a remotely probable winner. King Edward's Perrier, a big son of Persimmon—Amphora, and making his first start, was the one all hands hoped would win, but the brother to Flying Fox, the Duke of Westminster's Vamose, was the favorite in the betting at a short price. Of the race The Sportsman said:

"The Dewhurst Plate came next in order, and again a big surprise was in store, for no one who saw the race for the Middle Park Plate a fortnight ago could have dreamed of Rhodora winning, but at the risk of being accused of flogging a dead horse I must repeat that the irregular start had a great deal to do with the result. The race was selected for the debut of his majesty's Perrier, a rare good-looking and powerful horse by Persimmon out of Amphora that is still very backward, and will be better served by time than anything by which he was opposed yesterday. Considering it was his first outing he ran a good game race, and there is good ground for hoping that he will train on into a high-class colt next year. Vamose, who looked remarkably well and was better behaved at the start than usual, was a strong favorite from Ednam, to whom he was conceding six pounds, but he cut up in the most disappointing manner and appeared to be running a beaten horse all the way; nor was there any excuse for him, for with the exception of Dibs, who began very quickly, he got away as well as anything. On the other hand, Ednam was slow at starting, and his running on this occasion may be ignored in consequence. Dibs, as already mentioned, got clear away, but was done with at the Bushes, whence Rhodora, who showed marvelous improvement on her form at the last meeting, drew out with a clear lead and won in a canter by two lengths from Perrier, who in turn was three-parts of a length in front of Little Goose. The winner is really a beautiful mare and reflects the highest credit on her sire, St. Frusquin, who got her from the American-bred filly, Rhoda B., the dam of the Derby winner, Orby."

Another writer in the same newspaper said: "We are certainly in a season of remarkably good two-year-old fillies, and I think Rhodora may be included in the list of those who could tackle the best of the three-year-old fillies at even weights. American bred broodmares have been scoring this season, for we have to reckon with Lutetia and Sibola, besides the dam of Orby and Rhodora. As to Orby, Dr. McCabe hopes to be able to train the son of Orme next season."

Still another scribe in his comments said: "The easy victory of Rhodora in the Dewhurst Plate went to prove what had before been alleged, that whereas the colts of 1906 were greatly superior, the fillies of 1907 are superior to the colts, and it would not be in the least surprising if four of the five classic races next year were to be carried off by animals of this sex, for Lesbia and Rhodora are two hosts in themselves. Rhodora is not in the Two Thousand Guineas, Derby or St. Leger, but is in the One Thousand Guineas and the Oaks, while Lesbia is in the One Thousand Guineas, Derby, Oaks and St. Leger, but not in the Two Thousand Guineas. Rhodora ran badly in the Middle Park Plate, but she must have been all wrong then, because the way she smashed up the opposition over this seven furlongs was beyond all praise, and she was not meeting selling platers."

THIRTY LEADING OWNERS.

Week before last but five of the thirty chief winning stables of this country made additions to their totals, the smaller fry taking most of the money, but last week it was different, fifteen of the leaders winning. The chief point of interest is that in taking in $5,320, James R. Keene increased his stable earnings to such an extent that $3,058 will make his total for the year the coveted sum of $400,000. It is doubtful if the Aqueduct meeting will produce this further sum, but the stable is represented in stakes at the coming meeting at Washington, and should win out there if it does not do so at Aqueduct. The thirty leading owners, their stable earnings and sums added last week are:

FAVORITES RULE THE DAY.

FOUR OUT OF SIX REWARD THEIR SUP-PORTERS AT OAKLAND.

Ed Ball Wins Cantering and Is Bid Up—The Mist Defeats Fireball—Some Close Finishes.

Oakland, Cal., November 12.—Aside from its value as a racing attraction, today's card with its six outstanding favorites was particularly alluring to all classes of race-goers, and a marked increase of patronage resulted. There must have been fully 8,000 visitors on hand when the bugle called the horses to the post in the first race. Four of the six races were captured by favorites. Money Muss at 6 to 5 was the longest-priced one of the quartette. Very short odds were laid against the others. Pajaroito, 7 to 10, Ed Ball, 1 to 4, and Acrobat, 7 to 20, being samples of the closing betting. Sandwiched in between came Tavora and The Mist with a victory each at 6 to 1 and 14 to 5 respectively. The smallest field of the afternoon—The Mist, Fireball, Blondy and Cloudlight—contested the only important feature, the Santa Rosa Handicap at six furlongs. The negro rider, A. Williams, bungled his work on Fireball and allowed the heavily backed second choice, The Mist, to slip through on the inside of the favorite and beat him out in the very last stride. Carman's Elizabeth F. was so palpably inferior to the horses that led her home in the third race that everybody wondered why the ring had made her favorite.

Jockey Herman Radtke made his reappearance on the local track on Manchester in the second race after an absence of two years and was cheerfully received. The feature of the racing was Roalta's performance at a mile in the closing race. The Altamex three-year-old has not raced since he won a cheap maiden race at Saratoga last August and it required Acrobat's best efforts to beat him a nose in 1:39 3/4 after the former had made all the running. As high as 40 to 1 could be had about Thomas H. Williams' promising colt.

Ed Ball was bid up after his win in the fifth race from $800 to $1,300 by James Neil. Mr. Bennet retained his horse with the customary $5 advance. The odds against Ed Ball were practically prohibitive and the owner's net loss after winning today's race amounted to $175 exclusive of jockey fees.

S. C. Hildreth is making preparations to ship twenty horses, principally coming two-year-olds, to Arcadia, where they will be raced in charge of John Lowe. More ill-luck pursues this stable. The owner is now very much concerned over Montgomery's condition. A plate slipped during the running of the Opening Handicap and the injury to his left forefoot may result in his being thrown out of training for a while.

BREEDING BUREAU'S GREAT SUCCESS.

Reports from the stallions placed by the Breeding Bureau of the Jockey Club of New York, indicate that there will be about 300 foals sired by the thoroughbred stallions. Don de Oro heads the list with twenty living foals in Broome and adjoining counties. George H. Greaves, the keeper of Don de Oro, will receive the first prize of $150 given by the Jockey Club each year to the keeper of the stallion having the most foals. Fatherland and Margrave are each credited with a dozen foals and Girdlestone with ten and the other stallions placed have foals from the number of ten down to two accredited to them. Nearly 1,500 mares have been bred this year to the fifty stallions now doing stud duty in the state of New York under the auspices of the Breeding Bureau and the list of foals for 1908 is confidently expected to be a very large one.

ESSEX PARK SALE POSTPONED.

Hot Springs, Ark., November 12.—Receiver Eisele has received official notice from the United States Court of the postponement of the day of sale of the Essex Park race track to February 1. This is the third time that the sale has been postponed and is taken as an indication that the Federal Court recognizes the enhanced value of the property should the Ams anti-racing bill be repealed, which is now considered likely, and the deferring of the date of sale is made with a view of giving creditors added value in case racing is resumed in this state.

NEW STABLE IN PROSPECT.

Thomas Stevens, of Montreal, announces his intention of racing an extensive stable next season. Lester L. Hayman, the steeplechaser which James Boden is training for Mr. Stevens, is the best horse he owns at present. Mr. Stevens says he will take the horse home, break him to harness and drive him to a sleigh this winter with the hope of making a more hardened jumper of him.

SLIEVE GALLION SENT TO HUNGARY.

Slieve Gallion, the famous three-year-old by Gallinule—Recluse, recently purchased out of the Beckhampton stable, left Kremlin Cottage, Newmarket, England, on Saturday morning, October 26, together with Spridlon, for Hungary. They were under the charge of Frank Milne.

INJURED JOCKEY RECOVERED.

Jockey A. Williams has been discharged from St. Elizabeth Hospital at Covington, where he has been confined for some time with a broken arm. He will resume riding at New Orleans.

VARIATIONS IN FORM OF HORSES.

Injustice of Hasty Criticism Which Overlooks Natural Infirmities.

New York, November 11.—During the Jamaica meeting the racer Don Creole one day ran what was declared a remarkable race, because, after being shut off on the first turn to last place, he raced up to the lead in less than a furlong and, for the greater part of the struggle, he was a keen contender, though he did not win. The experts declared that a more patient ride might have landed him first home. Very soon afterward Don Creole again appeared in a race, in which, to judge from his recent great effort, he should have had a first-class chance. He warmed up so badly, however, changing his stride and palpably flinching from tenderness or pain that none of the rail-birds would bet on him. In the race he was so slow in getting in motion that he was out of it all the way and, though toward the end he began to make up some ground, there never was a time when he gave encouragement to his backers. "Wait until he runs tomorrow," exclaimed the shrewd division. "He had up 121 pounds today and there was nothing doing." He will carry only ninety-seven pounds tomorrow in the Aqueduct Handicap, and if the going is soft he will walk in." Thus the cynical race-goers talked.

Well, Don Creole started in the Aqueduct Handicap, won by Brookdale Nymph, and he was last all the way. He could not get into his stride, in other words, he couldn't stride over a straw. The trainer of the colt is Con Leighton, a man who once trained for Hon. William L. Scott, when that noted statesman and turf patron was very prominent in racing. It was Con Leighton who sent Chaos to the post for and won the Futurity of 1889. He was a son of Rayon d'Or, which French stallion was imported by Mr. Scott in 1883 at a cost of $30,000. Leighton was at the top of the heap at that and a subsequent period, but because of some disagreement with one of his patrons involving the payment of forfeits, he could not for years obtain a license.

It seemed a great injustice, but little publication was ever made of it. Two years ago, through the intervention of John E. Madden, Leighton received official permission to resume his profession, and with a small stable which races in the turf name of "Mr. Earle," he has from time to time run them with more or less success. Don Creole is one of these. He has, Leighton says, given him a great deal of trouble all year because of lameness or soreness, which, as in the races above quoted, have operated against anything like consistent racing. The veteran horseman thought the trouble was in the ankles and paddock frequenters said that the colt bore evidence of treatment there, but the ailment is more deep-seated, and if certain remedial treatment now being used on him is successful, do not be surprised if he should come out and run a good race.

Should this prove true, there is sure to be a loud outcry from public and press, the trainer will feel like hiding his head and the owner will be doubly glad that he races under a nom de course, which he does, for he will thereby avoid public obloquy. Yet, as a matter of fact, there will be no guilt or sharp practice in the matter. Any man who could trust his own eyesight saw for himself in Don Creole's last two races that he was physically not the same horse which just before that had run so well. The trouble is that lookers-on do not trust their own eyesight. They look at a race, see a horse beaten and have nothing to say, because they saw the jockey do his best. But a few days later out comes that horse and reverses the running for which there might be the same good excuse as is now shown in behalf of Don Creole, and then those critics who had nothing to say on the first day are hard in denunciation on the second day, though they could not take their oaths that the rider did not do his best on the first as well as the second day.

The men who were most dangerous to a jockey's reputation and earning ability in this sort of inconsistent criticism in the old days were the influential bookmakers, who vigorously asserted that on the character of the betting on both occasions, they were in a position to know that there was something wrong because "the right people" did not bet the first time and did the second time. There is no more compulsion on a trainer betting on his horse than there is for the race-goer to do so. With what supreme confidence do we see each day red-hot favorites served up and bet on by the public, while the second, third or fourth choices do not carry anything like the money that the first choice does. The majority of the public ignore all but the favorite, and in about forty per cent. of the races their judgment is sustained. Yet it often happens that the trainer of the favorite fears some other in the race and bets with timidity, or perhaps not at all. He will not risk his money because of the doubts of his horse's ability to win, but because the trainer does not bet it is surely a bold thing for any critic to say he has given orders to a jockey not to try to win. That outrageous presumption is libelous and there is a remedy for such an insulting statement if made in print in a reputable journal. That is one reason why the careful turf reporter does not load up his column day after day with loose charges which he possibly could not sustain if brought to book. The charge of dishonesty on the turf should not be lightly made, any more than dishonesty in any other walk of life, and the editors of the metropolitan journals are very careful in this respect.

Referring to the case of Don Creole, which begins this letter, he is now under treatment for rheumatism by no less a personage than "Patsy" McDermott, that jockey who won the Suburban of 1893 on Lowlander, and who rode Dobbins for Richard Croker the same year, when Domino and Galilee beat him about twenty-four inches in the Futurity. McDermott has since then been all over Europe, riding, training and acting as horse expert. He owns a liniment which obtained great vogue, and has letters from Lord Carnarvon, George Chalonier and others, French, Belgian and Russian turfmen of prominence, praising the liniment. So successful was he with it that in England one season he bought horses as low as $50, then won races with and sold them for ten times as much. McDermott, now in his fortieth year, recently said some interesting things as to present-day jockeys.

After paying tribute to Danny Maher, who, he says, is the best jockey in the world, McDermott goes on to recall the following riders who came from New Haven, his birthplace. Maher, the Purcell boys, Moriarity, Haggerty, "Snapper" Garrison, Andy McCarthy and others. "The boys now riding in America could not compare with those of ten years ago," said McDermott. "Any one of the old school could easily beat Miller. He is a good boy, but he hasn't had the experience which was necessary in the old days. Now riders are made in three weeks. In my days they were three years in a stable before they were entrusted with any horse to exercise, to say nothing of riding in a race. In these days knowledge of pace seems dead."

The once successful jockey is now the owner of a large piece of ground at Orange, Conn., where he says he will establish a fair and will open in June with a card of six races.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES.

[Communications without names and addresses of senders will not be answered or noticed; nor will any answers be sent by mail.]

J. W. F., St. Louis, Mo. Ivanhoe opened at 6 to 5 and closed at 7 to 10.

N. Y., Chicago. Inquire of Secretary Wm. J. McAllister, Cable Building, Chicago.

W. J. S., Indiana Harbor, Ind. The bet on Sanfara was a draw, that horse not having been entered.

E. B. H., Chicago. As the returns seem to have been within the terms of your agreement it appears to be correct.

J. K., Chicago. The wager won on Phalanx place and was void as to Sanfara, the latter not being entered.

NOTES OF THE TURF.

It is said that there will not be any Sunday racing at New Orleans after the opening of the regular winter season at City Park.

Judge C. V. Henderson has been at Aqueduct for the past week as the representative of the Los Angeles Racing Association with entry blanks for the stakes.

Jockey Charlie Grand, the Chicago boy, passed through here last week en-route for Oakland, where he will ride the horses of R. A. Rainey and R. McKeever.

A New York newspaper has it that George Boles will enter the pugilistic field as a fight promoter and will organize a club at Greenwich, Conn., for that purpose.

T. H. Ryan has arrived at Oakland with his horses, among them the stallion Dunois, which he will turn over to Harry Stover for stud duty at Kenilworth Farm.

A Pittsburg dispatch says William N. Getty, well known on the race tracks of the country as "Buster Getty," died at the home of Bookmaker Nee in that city Sunday.

George L. Johnston has shipped Raimondo, the two-year-old half brother to Bon Mot, to New Orleans, where the colt is expected to break out of the maiden list this winter.

The New California Jockey Club has engaged Dr. David S. Saylor, a well-known veterinary surgeon of New York, to officiate as veterinarian at the Oakland track during the coming season.

The horses H. B. Duryea will send to New Orleans will be raced by Fred Burlew. Mr. Duryea may spend part of the winter in New Orleans, running down occasionally from his farm in southwestern Tennessee.

CANDIDATES FOR COAST STAKES.

Nominations to the Andrew Stakes and Three Representative Handicaps.

In last Sunday's edition of Daily Racing Form the entries to the Burns Handicap, California Derby and Oaks, Waterhouse Cup and Thornton Stakes were published, these being the chief and most representative stakes of the California Jockey Club's meeting of 1907-8 at Oakland. There are, however, a number of other stakes with entries from the other classes of horses which will be published here to serve the widespread interest always attaching to winter racing in California. The Andrew Selling Stakes is a case in point. This is a sprint of six and a half furlongs and its entries serve to reveal the strength of the division that can traverse a short distance at great speed, but in the main is made up of non-stayers over a long route. Its nominations are as follows:

STAR OF THE WORLD'S FAIR YEAR.

Rudolph's Great Racing in the Columbus and Other Handicaps.

Fonso sired many capital racers in his long career in the stud, but it is questionable if any was better than Rudolph. This good horse held his own worthily against the best of his time, both east and west, and had the distinction of winning the richest handicap ever given by the Washington Park Club. This was when he won the $20,000 Columbus Handicap at the World's Fair meeting of 1893. It was a great year in Chicago racing, and the clans of horsemanship gathered here from far and near. The Columbus was at a mile and three sixteenths, and was contested by a grand field, the starters being Rudolph, with 107 pounds up; Yo Tambien, 118; Ray S., 116; London, 101; Illume, 106; Diablo, 116; Lamplighter, 126; Morello, 113; Michael, 110; Post Scout, 115; Highland, 108; Haron, 111; Ida Pickwick, 118; Wildwood, 108; Maid Marian, 105, and Santa Anna, 108. It was a noble field, with every starter a stake winner and a racer of high renown. As befitted the occasion, it was a tremendous contest, and at the finish Rudolph was first by a neck, in front of Yo Tambien, with Ray S. third, and the others closely bunched and close up. Morello was the favorite at 2 to 1, but reared up and fell while at the post, and was so shaken up and bruised as to be temporarily incapacitated. Lamplighter was second choice, at 5 to 1, and Rudolph was at 15 to 1. The race was run in 1:59.

As a two-year-old Rudolph was the property of B. J. Treacy, and was not raced much, starting in four races and winning one. This was a purse at Latonia, in which he won from Carroll Reid, Colonel Wheatley and four more at a half mile in 50. He was bought by Hankins & Johnson, and as a three-year-old, late in 1891, after he had won four races for Treacy, including the Cincinnati Hotel Handicap at Latonia and the St. Leger at Louisville. In the Cincinnati Hotel Handicap he defeated the noted mare, Marion C., then in fine form and a 6 to 5 favorite. The other starters were Business, Eli, Ethel and Princess Limbo. In the St. Leger he was only opposed by Tarquin, and was an easy winner. He was not campaigned extensively in 1892, but won two races at Garfield Park and one at Nashville for his new owners. It was different in 1892, when he started in twenty races and won fourteen of them.

In the course of his racing that year Rudolph won the Kentucky Handicap at Louisville, a sweepstakes at Hawthorne, The Great Western Handicap and Columbus Handicap at Washington Park, Woodlawn Stakes at Gravesend, Manhattan Handicap and Fordham Handicap at Morris Park, and seven overnight purses. In the Great Western at Washington Park he carried 108 pounds and defeated Ray S., Yo Tambien, and six other good ones at a mile and a half in 2:34. In the Woodlawn Stakes, with 110 up, he beat Banquet, 116, Strathmeath, 114, and three more at a mile and three-sixteenths in 2:01. In the Manhattan Handicap, carrying 120 pounds, he won from Banquet, 121, Terrifier, 90, Picknicker, 103, Aloha, 109, and one more at a mile and a quarter in 2:07, and in the Fordham Handicap he had up 124 pounds, and beat Sir Walter, 108, Picknicker, 95, and Kildeer, 95, at a mile and five-sixteenths in 2:14. In these races he met and vanquished the best in the land and thoroughly demonstrated himself to be a high-class race horse.

That was Rudolph's last good year. He developed lameness, and won but two more races, although assiduous efforts were made to bring him out fit to race for several years subsequently. His two successful races in 1894 were for purses at Washington Park, and his complete record was as follows:

Winner—B. c. by Sorcerer—Hanoverline (trained by G. M. Odom).
Went to post at 2:10. At post 5 minutes. Start good. Won driving; second and third the same.
Oraculum ran in greatly improved form today, got away well and, holding a small lead all the way, finished gamely under punishment. Robin Hood showed improvement over his recent races, was always prominent and, in a game finish, almost got up. Quadrille was away well back and, after closing a big gap, finished with a rush, but could not get up. Grimaldi was outtried early and came from far back in the last quarter. Ace High tired after showing speed to the stretch. Loring and Rockstone displayed early speed and the former ran a good race. The winner was entered for $800; no bid.

Scratched—71783 Belle of Iroquois, 110; 71785 Teacress, 106; 71788 Gambrians, 111; 71781 General Haley, 110; 71640 Clovercrest, 118; 71789 East End, 106.

71821 SECOND RACE—About 2 Miles. Steeplechase. (65376—4:20-5-154.) $800 added. 4-year-olds and upward. Handicap. Net value to winner $605.

Winner—Br. g. by Santiago—Leola (trained by C. Kiernan).
Went to post at 2:33. At post 1 minute. Start good. Won driving; second easily. Alamansor was waited until in the second turn of the field, where he went up to a contending position, wore Kara down in the closing rush and finally got up under a hard drive. Kara fenced well and easily disposed of Agio, but failed to stall off the winner under a weakly ridden finish. Agio put up a fairly good race, but tired in the last half. Banneil showed speed, but tired and was beaten when he fell at the eleventh jump. Dulcian fell at the seventh fence.

Scratched—71760 Jimmy Lane, 150; 71765 Knight of Elway, 140; 71732 C. B. Campbell, 133.
Overweights—Dulcian, 1 pound.

71822 THIRD RACE—6-1-2 Furlongs. (58282—1:19-4-100.) $700 added. 2-year-olds. Maidens. Selling. Net value to winner $740.

Winner—Br. c. by Miller—Francois (trained by C. H. Hughes).
Went to post at 3:02. At post 1 minute. Start good. Won easily; second and third driving. Whidden, suddenly improved, followed the early pacemakers to the stretch, then drew away with a rush and won pulled up. Duke of Bridgewater closed an early gap, showed speed and held on well for second place. Orfano closed a big gap into a fast going third in three furlongs. Winning Star also made up much ground and came fast at the end. Richmond Duke showed speed, but quit. Alex Grant tired at the end. The winner was entered for $900; no bid.

Scratched—71794 Norbitt, 104; 71743 Rosario, 101.
Overweights—Winning Star, 2 pounds; Hand-me-down, 2.

Went to post at 3:27. At post 1 minute. Start good. Won driving; second and third the same.
Purslane was prominent in the running from the start, proved gamely under a hard stretch drive and won drawing clear. Don Enrique ran a fast, game race, raced Kentucky Beau into defeat and finished resolutely, but could not stand off the winner at the difference in weights. Killaloe closed a big gap and came from far back in the last half. Lad of Langden ran well, but tired right at the end. Kentucky Beau showed superior early speed, but quit, as usual. Gold Lady was never conspicuous and is not at her best, but finished gamely.

Scratched—71741 McCarter, 122; 71640 Baby Wolf, 118.
Overweights—Kentucky Beau, 3 pounds; Purslane, 1.

71824 FIFTH RACE—1-1-6 Miles. (50376—1:45-3-99.) $700 added. 3-year-olds and upward. Selling. Net value to winner $690.

Winner—Blk. c. by Bannockburn or Salm—Estelle (trained by J. P. Mayberry).
Went to post at 3:52. At post 2 minutes. Start good. Won driving; second and third the same.
Quinn Brady was taken to the front in the first furlong and, opening a long lead, kept his advantage all the way, but was tiring and hard pressed at the end. St. Valentine, outrun early, closed up very fast through the last quarter and would have won in a few more strides. Kilter also closed a big gap and disposed of Lord Stanhope and Hooray in the stretch, but could not quite get up to Quinn Brady or stall off St. Valentine. Lord Stanhope ran well and finished gamely. Hooray and St. Joseph showed early speed. Flowaway ran a bad race. Monacodor can do much better. The winner was entered for $800; no bid.

Scratched—71594 Samuel H. Harris, 101; 71704 Andrew Mack, 106.
Overweights—St. Joseph, 1 pound.

71825 SIXTH RACE—7-8 Mile. (50420—1:26-3-101.) $800 added. 2-year-olds. Handicap. Net value to winner $725.

Winner—B. c. by Watercross—Colonial (trained by A. J. Joyner).
Went to post at 4:18. At post 1 minute. Start good. Won handily; second and third driving.
Hessian was reserved from the early pace and, coming on very fast when called on, won going away hand ridden. Dorante closed a big gap in the middle running and easily outstayed Carrollton for second place. Carrollton got off fast and set the pace around to the stretch, then tired and failed to stay. Sungleam showed early speed and fell back, then came again. Cattlewood was going well at the finish. Rosimiro raced closely with Carrollton to the stretch and quit badly near the end. Clell Turney showed speed.
Scratched—71778 Spooner, 122; 71791 Falcada, 124; 71791 Bialto, 113; 71794 Monocle, 95; 71747 The Squire, 121; 71659 Almee C, 112; 71581 Sanguine, 106; 71808 Blacksheep, 104; The Shaugraun, 114.
Overweights—Don Ottario, 3 pounds; Countermand, 2.

FEATURES OF RACING IN FRANCE.

Big Governmental Income from Betting—
Three-Year-Olds Expected to Shine.

Writing from Paris at the close of October, the correspondent of London Sportsman, in a review of racing and its adjuncts in France, says:

"Strenuous exertions are being made by the minister of agriculture to defend the system of gambling on the turf invented by M. Oller, who brought financial ruin on himself by endeavoring to obtain the assent of the republic to the scheme which since then has enabled the government to hold enormous sums of money in hand for electoral purposes. No public recognition of the services rendered to the republic has been made as far as M. Oller was concerned, although M. Ruau has not been chary of the red ribbon which graces the lapel of the coat of more than one of his supporters. Paragraphs savoring strongly of official communications have gone the round of the Parisian journals proclaiming the enormous advantages to be derived from the race lottery which some said would before long be adopted in the home of sport, England. The ringing down of the curtain at Longchamps has enabled M. Ruau to publish the astounding information that during the year now drawing to a close, the gate receipts Longchamps, notwithstanding the very disastrous weather which has prevailed, have exceeded by some $40,000 those of 1906 and that the turnover at the 'mutuels' has produced a surplus of $1,200,000.

"Some financial success is attributed to the fact that the back-end meetings have been transferred from Chantilly to Paris. It is an undeniable fact that those who bet on horse racing with the same keenness as that which marked the followers of the old lotteries are close calculators and will not nibble at their racing capital by any outlay for travelling, and will take tram or tube to get to Longchamps for a few pence when they will not pay even a third class fare to Chantilly. Receipts fell off considerably last year owing to the riots at Longchamps and the enforced return of the Jockey Club to its former seat of operations at Chantilly, so that there is not very much in the vaulted progress made by 'Kitty and Co.'

"Flat racing continues within the Paris district until the thirteenth of next month. It will not, however, throw much light on future events. We know that the three-year-olds of 1903 will be better than those we have seen running during the year now on the wane, and that in all probability the fillies will have the preference over the colts. Sauge Pourpree is no doubt at the head of her generation, notwithstanding her recent defeat by Valda in the Prix de la Foret. She was not herself on that occasion. Good judges place the daughter of Le Sagittaire and Quidla at the head of the list of laureates for next year, and then come Valda, Halima and Princess Margaret. The classification will be somewhat more difficult with the colts. Mr. W. K. Vanderbilt has a good stable, probably, with Schuyler, North East and Gambaisell, but the Biennial Stakes at Maisons Laiffie showed that the fillies were the best. Lamanour's sensational performances caused a good round sum to be offered for him by Edmond Blanc through the blood of Gouvernal, which he bred, but his more recent attempts to get the ten furlongs in Paris in the Prix de Conde, where he ran unplaced, silenced all regret at the refusal of the offer made to Baron Fey.

"One of the best among the colts is undoubtedly the own brother to Retz, bred by M. Camille Blanc at the Joyenval Stud. Conquistador gave promise at Deauville, but, like his brother, the winner of the Chantilly Derby in 1902, he wanted time, and he has only recently revealed himself. He has good speed and is a stayer, and the fact that he has beaten Talo Biribil, which won the Prix de Conde in excellent style, speaks volumes in his favor. He has numerous engagements for next year, and should he winter well there is every prospect of his following in the footsteps of his illustrious brother. He bears looking at, and if among the numerous youngsters which have made their debut there is one from which he may have something to fear it may be Quintette, who belongs to M. Deschamps, and is the apple of the eye of W. Sweeper, whose long experience in England, in the United States and in Germany will be affirmed by the son of Gardefen and Dinette. Quintette should have been under the care of R. Count, who has quitted Chantilly to reside at Gouvieux. Count was handicapped for room in his stables, and as an excellent comrade gave his surplus over to Sweeper and thus afforded him an excellent chance of distinguishing himself.

"The Prix de Saint-Firmin on Sunday showed nothing of any importance as the winner. It is destined for two-year-olds who are out in public for the first time. It served to reveal the excellent qualities of Ajax in 1903, and though the winner came from the same stable at La Foulleuse there is no hope of his rivaling the excellence of his forerunner. Coran is by Masque, out of Scholastica. He has many points in common with his sire, which was a real good horse. He shows more blood, but that he gets no doubt from his dam, who is a Hampton mare out of Satchel, and was bought by M. Edmond Blanc as a two-year-old from the Duke of Portland. Scholastica has not been very lucky at the stud. She has been paired with more than one good sire, but the result was far from satisfactory. Though she is well bred enough for anything, her produce have not warranted any classic engagements being made in their name, and though Coran ran in a pleasing manner and won from a good field, his success may be mainly due to the excellent condition in which he was delivered at the post by Robert Denman. M. Edmond Blanc, however, knows how to wait, and the patience he has displayed since he saw his most legitimate aspirations defeated by an epidemic which ravaged a stable under the most careful management, as far as sanitary conditions are concerned, may yet receive its reward."

SPEEDY BRIAR SWEET'S CAREER.

One of the star race mares of a decade ago was Briar Sweet, by Sir Modred—Sweetbriar. She started in seven races in her two-year-old career, winning one, running third three times and being unplaced in her three other starts. Briar Sweet made her debut in the Roslyn Stakes at Gravesend, where she finished fifth to Great Bend, Handball and other good ones of her age. Her next start was in the Double Event at Sheepshead Bay, where she again ran unplaced. Briar Sweet graduated from the maiden class at Coney Island, when she won the Vernal Stakes from L'Alouette, the Furury winner, and nine others.

On the first day of the Saratoga meeting Briar Sweet ran fourth to the mighty Hamburg, Handball and Loiterer for the Flash Stakes. In her next three starts she finished third, in the Flirtation Stakes at Saratoga, a purse race at the same track, and to Hamburg and Kitefoot in the Great American Stakes at Coney Island. This ended her career as a two-year-old.

As a three-year-old, Briar Sweet started in fifteen races, winning thirteen of them and finishing second in the other two. Sent to California in the early spring of 1898, she suffered but two defeats on the coast, being beaten by Montgomery at five furlongs in 1:01½, and by Paul Griggs the same distance in 1:00½. She defeated such good ones as Napamux and Torsida in the California Oaks, on a heavy track; the fast sprinters Bellicoso, O'Connell, St. Callatine and Hurly Bury, 5-8 mile in 1:00½; won from that speedy mare, May W., 7-8 mile in 1:26½, when she was taken back east.

Starting at the Brighton Beach meeting in July and winding up at the Morris Park meeting in October, Briar Sweet started eight times and was victorious in each attempt. The most notable achievement was the winning of the First Special, defeating such good ones as Candle Black, Alice Farley, Algol and The Friar, running the mile and a quarter in 2:07½. Among other stakes won by her that year were the Dixiana, Ocean Handicap and Santiago Handicap.

In 1899 Briar Sweet was again taken to the coast, where at her first essay she won the Pacific Union Stakes, running the mile and an eighth in the fast time of 1:52½. This was her only race in California that winter, when she was again brought back east, her first start being in the Suburban, in which she finished unplaced. The Jamaica Stakes fell to her prowess at the Brighton Beach meeting in July. Her last start was in the Islip Stakes, where she finished fourth to Imp, Firearm and Peep o'Day, when she was retired to the stud and has produced the good winners Kargut and Bouquet, both by Kinley Mack.
